

I vehemently oppose any attempts to weaken the New Jersey Do Not Call Law. It is nonsense that the telemarketers should be able to call people who have done business with them in the last 18 months even though they have signed up for the Do Not Call. Just because someone does business with a company does not necessarily mean that the person wants to continue doing business with that company. Furthermore, when people directly state that they do not want to do business with telemarketers, that should be the basis for determining whether or not the telemarketers should be able to call them, NOT any other tangential business conducted with the company.
